Summary of Course

This advanced course examines the dramatic conventions of genre storytelling in film and television. Through extensive script readings and discussions, students will deconstruct the common features of genre in an effort to discern audience expectations and develop a methodology for narrative innovation in their own work. In addition to evaluating films and series of varying genres, students will examine work by, for, and about a diverse range of intersectional characters and creators reflective of our communities.

Course Objectives

- discuss the manner in which story structure is influenced by genre
- analyze nontraditional narratives as a counterpoint to “Classic Hollywood” conventions
- demonstrate a cinematic vocabulary to discuss films and television series critically and creatively

Final Paper Due

AssignmentsScreening Response Assignments (70% of final grade)

The instructor will post a topic for you to write about after each class in regards to the lecture, screening(s), and corresponding screenplay/reading assignment(s). Your response must be a minimum of 500 words for each Screening Response Assignment, which is essentially two double spaced typed Word document pages. The document should be saved as a PDF and submitted to the corresponding D2L Submission link by the assigned due date. There is a total of 14 Screening Response assignments for the quarter, each work five points.

Final Paper (20% of final grade)

Write an analysis using the storytelling conventions we have discussed throughout the quarter on one screenplay of your choosing from a list of screenplays provided by the instructor. The analysis should NOT be a linear retelling of the script's plot. You must discuss the narrative devices employed throughout to build a cohesive and engaging narrative or, depending on your argument, why the current draft of the script will fail to connect with an audience. You MUST have a definitive opinion on the material and defend it with specific examples from the script that illustrate the conventions discussed this quarter – Don't waiver.

The paper is due via the corresponding D2L Submission assignment link on Tuesday, November 22nd by 11:59pm. No late assignments will be accepted. A few things to keep in mind:

- Remember, your opinion is not wrong as long as you can support it with specific examples from the film.
- In an effort to present your work objectively, please do not use any personal pronouns when referring to your opinion, such as "I feel this film exhibits poor structure" – It is clear you are saying it because the entire paper is your opinion.
- The paper must be no less than four pages - MLA Formatting Required

Generative AI Use Prohibited

Generative AI tools are trained on existing texts, algorithms, and models to generate content like writing, images, and videos based on prompts from users. ChatGPT, Midjourney, Google Bard, and DALL-E are examples of generative AI tools. Please refrain from using generative AI in this course for any purpose. We will be developing skills that are important to practice on your own and using generative AI may inhibit development, practice, or understanding of those skills. During class, we will discuss how and why generative AI may disrupt your learning.

If you're unsure if a specific tool makes use of AI, or if a specific tool is permitted for use on assignments in this course, please contact me. Attempting to pass off AI-generated work as your own will violate DePaul's Academic Integrity Policy.

We value diversity because it is part of our history, our traditions and our future. We see diversity as an asset and a strength that adds to the richness of classroom learning. In my course, I strive to include diverse authors, perspectives and teaching pedagogies. I also encourage open dialogue and spaces for students to express their unique identities and perspectives. Preferred Name & Gender Pronouns variance, and nationalities. I will gladly honor your request to address you by an alternate name or gender pronoun. Please advise me of this preference early in the quarter so that I may make appropriate changes to my records. The preferred first name will appear in University related systems and documents except where the use of the legal name is necessitated or required by University business or legal need. Online Course Evaluations

Evaluations are a way for students to provide valuable feedback regarding their instructor and the course. Detailed feedback will enable the instructor to continuously tailor teaching methods and course content to meet the learning goals of the course and the academic needs of the students. They are a requirement of the course and are key to continue to provide you with the highest quality of teaching. The evaluations are anonymous; the instructor and administration do not track who entered what responses. A program is used to check if the student completed the evaluations, but the evaluation is completely separate from the student's identity. Since 100% participation is our goal, students are sent periodic reminders over three weeks. Students do not receive reminders once they complete the evaluation. Please see <https://resources.depaul.edu/teaching-commons/teaching/Pages/online-teaching-evaluations.aspx> for additional information.
